CITY BUSINESS DISPOSED OF

Charge of Violation of Saloon Ordinance Made Against Joe Roza Dismissed

TO RUSH NEW WATER SYSTEM

Council Will Experiment With New Incandescent Electric Lamps For Street Lighting

At Monday night's session of the Council, the Trustees faced an unusually large amount of business and although the session was continued until an unusually late hour it was found necessary to finally make an adjournment until next Tuesday in order to complete consideration of the business demanding attention. Trustee Beeger was the only absentee when the session was called to order by chairman Merrill.

A communication was presented by Night-watchman Coleman charging Joe Rosa, the proprietor of a saloon at the corner of Broadway and Arguello streets with a violation of section 13 of Ordinance No. 57, commonly known as the liquor ordinance. It was alleged that Roza had kept his place of business open for more than an hour after the prescribed limit of 11 o'clock on the night of December 24th last. Although at first the members of the board evinced a disposition to postpone consideration of the charges to some future time, in view of the large amount of work before them, it was finally decided to dispose of the charge immediately as Mr. Roza was present and evinced a desire to avoid delay. Judge Fitzpatrick appeared for Mr. Rosa, although he informed the Trustees that he came as a friend and neighbor rather than as an attorney.

Practically the only witness for the prosecution was night-watchman Coleman. He testified that on the night of December 24th he had made his usual rounds and first had his attention attracted to the place about 11:30 by the lights. Upon closer investigation he found the doors open and the proprietor and two other men standing in the middle of the room. Although he had gone into the place he had said nothing, except to ask Roza if he had a permit to keep open after hours. Coleman had also noticed the place still open at midnight, but saw that it was clooed a half-hour later. In answer to a question by Judge Fitzpatrick, Coleman admitted that he had seen no liquor sold and stated that there was no evidence that business had been transacted after 11 o'clock. He also admitted that when he had gone into the place it was evident that Roza had been engaged in the work of scrubbing his floor and that the cleansing process had not been completed.

In his own behalf, Roza made no attempt to deny that his doors had been open after 11 o'clock, but stated positively that he had sold no liquor after that hour. In fact he stated that he had not seen a customer in the place for at least an hour before that time. He had commenced to clean up half-an-hour before closing time, but found the job a longer one than he had anticipated, and had become so absorbed in his work as to neglect to watch the clock and thus failed to note the passage of time. He accounted for the doors of the place not being closed by the fact that it was necessary to attach his hose to the hydrant on the sidewalk. The two men in the place with him were friends assisting in the work. He had been in the business for a number of years and had always desired to keep within the requirements of the law.

Judge Fitzpatrick stated to the board that he had known Roza for 15 years, during which time he had conducted the place, which is next door to the residence of the Judge and located on his property. During all this time he had conducted a quiet and orderly place. As a rule the saloon was closed early, generally some time before the required hour. While he admitted there had been a violation of the letter of the law, he considered it a purely technical one and due to ignorance more than intent. He also stated that Roza had made a practice of refusing to snpply liquor to intoxicated men or habitual drunkards. At this point chairman Merrill asked if it were not a fact that Roza had supplied liquor to Joe Aceveda, stating that it had been so reported. This Judge Fitzpatrick emphatically denied, stating that he had several times seen the man ordered out of the place. Mr. Stafford, another neighbor, also volunteered testimony as to the general good conduct and quiet of the place.

After hearing this evidence, Trustee Hynding moved that the complaint be dismissed, stating that he was convinced that there had been no intent to violate the law, and that in view of the good report of the neighbors he did not believe there was any danger of further violations on the part of Roza. The motion was seconded by Trustee Rice and carried by a unanimous vote.

The usual report of Marshal Christ showed that his total collections for the month amounted to $794, of which $564 was for water. There is due on account of delinquent water bills $130, of which $106 is owing by the county.

According to the report of the Treasurer there is a balance of $6644.47 in the general fund of the city treasury, at the same time there is a balance of $861.47 in the library fund. This seemed to show a very satisfactory condition of finances to the Trustees.

It was decided to dispense for the present with the making of a map of the natural waterways of the city. This conclusion was the result of a general inspection made by the members of the board last week.

The office of poundmaster was declared vacant, it being the general impression of the Trustees that the work of the present incumbent had been far from satisfactory. A successor will be named at the next regular meeting.

Considerable time was devoted to a discussion of the garbage question, without reaching a definite conclusion. Members of the board have been approached by three different parties, each willing to engage in the business provided terms satisfactory to them are offered. Joe Picetti, who has a contract for the same work at San Mateo, would undertake the work if some place is found where he may keep hogs and an ordinance passed requiring each resident to be provided with two cans, one for kitchen refuse ane one for rubbish. Frank Martin was present at the meeting. He offered to find his own place for hogs and to dispose of all other garbage if the city would provide a dumping ground. The various proposals were finally referred to Trustee Rice who will probably submit a solution at the next meeting.

A petition was presented from a number of residents of the Whipple road asking for the erection of an additional arc light. This provoked a general discussion of the light question with a view to securing increased distribution without additional expense. As an experiment along this line it was decided to erect five Tungsten incandescent lights on the Brittan road, to be placed on alternate poles. The proposed removal of the light from the water tower on Phelps street was also discussed, though no final order was made. Although Trustee Rice declined to either support or oppose the proposition, from the fact that he is a resident of that street, he expressed the opinion that the precent location of the lamp was such as to give the best distribution of light of any in the city.

Chairman Merrill stated that during the past week he had interviewed the managers of the Dingee Park property and as a result had been informed that all arrangements were ready for the work of the construction of the new reservoir as soon as the plans and desires of the city were made known. It was then decided to proceed without delay with preparations for the laying of the new mains immediately required and street superintendent Dickey was directed to prepare an estimate of the cost of material and labor required. The proposed pipe line will be 12 inches from the reservoir to the city limits, and there reducing to 10 inches to Woodstock avenue and continuing on Broadway with an 8 inch pipe.

At the suggestion of City Attorney Mansfield it was decided not to pass further ordinances for the prohibition of the sale of liquor to habitual drunkards, but instead to rely upon the general law in prosecuting cases of this character. In the future all cases of this character will be prosecuted under the provisions of section 397 of the penal code, which makes it a misdemeanor for any person to furnish liquor to an habitual drunkard, punishable by a severe fine or imprisonment. In making this suggestion attorney Mansfield expressed the opinion that much of the liquor obtained by this class was secured from parties other than the saloons, and called attention to the fact that the provisions of this section applied to all persons, whether they were in the saloon business or not.

Law Should Be Enforced.

While the members of the Council took a step in the right direction Monday night, they have scarcely gone far enough. The determination to rely upon the general law for the punishment of those unscrupulous persons who persist in furnishing liquor to the habitual drunkard, seems a wise one. The law is broad and comprehensive, and if enforced the penalties it provides are sufficiently severe to practically put a stop to the evil. But to be of value, some means must be provided to secure the detection of the guilty parties and their punishment.

Unquestionably there is much truth in the suggestion of Attorney Mansfield, that to a large extent the liquor furnished these unfortunates reaches them through sources other than the saloon. This is the source of the evil that should receive careful attention from the authorities.

Cut off the private house supply of these unfortunate individuals, and at least a large portion of the danger from the saloon will be avoided While greed or gain may induce a few unscrupulous saloon keepers to cater to the so', regard for his business welfare as well as his personal reputation in the community, if not the promptings of his conscience, will prevent the average man in the business from harboring this miserable class of people.

Visitors to Be Entertained.

The next meeting of the Peninsula Protective League will be held in this city in May. It is important that the visiting delegates should be given a reception commensurate with the present and prospective importance of Redwood City. To this end the business men, as well as citizens generally should not delay too long in instituting a movement for some suitable entertainment

Gatherings of progressive and enterprising business men, such as compose the delegates to these conventions, must invariably accomplish much of value to the sections represented. Not only are present needs subserved, but opportunities are afforded for exploiting such splendid natural advantages as are possessed by Redwood City.

Will Enlarge Dam Soon.

A rumor is current that during the coming summer the Spring Valley Company will add an additional ten feet to the great Crystal Springs dam four miles west of San Mateo. It is said the company has virtually decided to take this step to prevent such an immense loss of water as has been occasioned this year through the overflow. The great volume of water which has gone to waste may be imagined from the fact that during the past two weeks a stream eighty-five feet wide and of a depth of from eight to ten inches has been passing over the structure. The dam has long been considered by the world's most eminent engineers as the finest and most substantial structure of its kind in the world.

Clearing Ocean Shore Road.

The large force of men which the Ocean Shore Railroad Company have at work clearing away the land slides and repairing the track are making rapid progress. The company expect to resume through train service by the first of the month at the farthest.

BOARD NAMES TRIAL JURORS

Incorporation of South San Francisco Deprives County of Benefit License Monies

The board of Supervisors transacted a large volume of business last Monday. All the members were present.

Antone Pease, an indigent person of Redwood City, applied for aid and was allowed $8 permonth. Coleman and Blackburn voted no on the application contending that the applicant should be sent to the poor farm.

Margaret Brogg an indigent person of Vista Grande was allowed aid in the sum of $8 per month.

A communication, signed by W. Faber and others, residents of the West End Homestead Association in the Crocker Tract, was read asking that obstructions be removed from certain streets in the tract. The matter was referred to the District Attoney.

The communication of F. Salz that was read at the last meeting stating that he had purchased the saloon business of Thos. Durham in Lob.tos and desired a transfer of the liquor license, was ordered filed. Mr. Salz who was present, was told that under the existing ordinance no transfer could be made. He would have to apply for a license in the usual way He was not entitled to any rebate.

The following communication was received from Miss McLellan of Beresford.

To the Honorable Board of Supervisors of San Mateo County—Gentlemen: On the 8th inst. William Casale, in an intoxicated condition and representing himself to be the county poundmaster took possession of a colt that I had tied to the fence in front of my gate. He brought the colt into my yard and demanded $8.50 for its release. I signified my willingness to pay what was just and right, but no more. As he started to leave with the horse, I stepped in front of his horse, demanding by what right he took the animal. In the sight of several witnesses he drew a revolver, at the same time making threats that he would "fix" me. He took the horse to Redwood City, and when I called, less than three hours later, offering to pay the charges, at the same time demanding a receipt, he refused to give me a receipt.

Believing that you, gentlemen, as guardians of San Mateo county and the rights of its citizens—believing that you would not approve of drunken officers being allowed to go about extorting money and threatening the lives of any who might oppose them—I ask that you remove this man from his present position as poundmaster of a part of the Second township of San Mateo county. Respectfully,

M. GRACE McLELLAN,
Resident and property holder of San Mateo county at Herresford.
February 11, 1909.

The Building Committee recommended certain repairs to be done at the jail and on motion of Francis the Sheriff was authorized to do the work at a cost not to exceed the sum of $300.

McEvoy was granted further time to report on the application of Mrs. Amaral for aid.

District Attorney Bullock reported that the notice filed with the board by E. B. & A. L. Stone Company asking that $490.40 be held out of the claim of John Nealis for bridge work on account of indebtedness to the former company was sufficient notice. The clerk was directed to notify Nealis of the action taken by the Stone Company.

Resolutions of Condolence.

The following resolutions were adopted by Gen. Geo. S. Evans Corps, No. 36. W. R. C., at a meeting held last Friday afternoon relative to the death of Elizabeth Cooper, a charter member, who died January 10, 1909.

Whereas, It has pleased Almighty God in his wisdom to remove from our midst and forever separate from us on earth our beloved sister, Elizabeth Cooper; and

Whereas The husband has lost a devoted wife, the son a devoted mother, and this corps an earnest and efficient member; therefore, be it

Resolved, That while submitting with all humility to the stern decree that has caused the sad break in our patriotic ranks we extend our deepest sympathy to her beloved husband and family; and be it

Resolved, That our charter be draped in mourning for a period of thirty days; that these resolutions be spread upon the minutes of the corps, published in the local papers, and an engrossed copy be forwarded to the bereaved family.

Submitted in F. C. and L. Regina Hess, Mary Winter, Alice Mansfield, committee.

Change in Deer Season.

Assemblyman Rutherford's bill to change the deer season passed the Assembly last Tuesday. The law as it now stands fixes the season from July 15th to October 1st. Rutherford's bill provides that the season open on July 1st and close on November 1st. If this law passes it will have a bad effect in this county. Deer are scarce and lengthening the season would have the effect of killing more that would otherwise have been saved.

Redwood City more than had her usual run of attractions during the week. Hi Henry's Minstre's on Monday night was well worth seeing. The moving picture show "The Passion Play" was not a combination of poor pictures and poor reading and the Farmer's Daughter on Thursday night was a second rate performance.

The changing of names of some streets in town will be taken up by the Town Council soon when residents are expected to assist. The property owners on Whipple Road seem to be a unit as aganst changing the name to 14th street, as has been suggested. We join them in this as it is one of the old Land Marks of the county and was named after the old Whipple Mill.

REDWOOD CITY IS SELECTED

Next Meeting Of the Peninsular Development League to be Held in This City

RAILWAY RATES CONSIDERED

Recent Session at South San Francisco Devoted to Discussion of Commutation Rates

The Peninsular Promotion League held a regular meeting in South San Francisco last Saturday afternoon, with the following delegates present:

South San Francisco—W. J. Martin, A. McSweeney, F. A. Cunningham, H. Gaerdes and E. I. Woodman.

Burlingame—G. W. Gates, C. A. Carlson, Eric Lange and Fred Colby.

San Mateo—H. N. Roydon and O. L. Koop.

Belmont—P. A. Roussel.

Redwood City—Geo. W. Lovie, P. P. Chamberlain and A. D. Walsh.

Mountain View—A. M. Free.

A lengthy communication was received from Mr. Paul Shoup, formerly an assistant general passenger agent for the Southern Pacific Company, but now the special representative of President E. H. Harriman, with headquarters at San Francisco.

The communication went fully into the matter of reduced commutation rates for the Peninsula region, which has been asked for by the League. It compares the present local commutation rates with those prevailing out of eastern cities. Mr. Shoup predicts a great future for the Peninsula but says that a reduction of commutation rates at this time will not be of any great advantage to the Peninsula. Good train service is more essential than any change of rate possibly could be.

Mr. Shoup further states that a 10-ride ticket has been put into effect in the Peninsula section on a 2-cent per mile basis, figured on the Bay Shore Cutoff milage. It has a 60 day limit and is good for bearer. He suggests that incorporated cities of the Peninsula adopt ordinances preventing ticket scalping.

An extended discussion followed the reading of the communication.

Mr. Royden, of San Mateo, thought Mr. Shoup was right, so far as the present monthly commutation rate is concerned. It would be better to leave rates as they are rather than have a lower rate and poorer service.

Mr. Roussel of Belmont would like to see the same rate that prevails from San Francisco to points across the bay put into effect down the Peninsula, in proportion to mileage. A commutation rate of $5 per month from San Francisco to san Mateo would be satisfactory. The time limit on a 10ride ticket should be extended to six months.

Mr. Walsh of Redwood City thought the League should be satisfied with the concession granted by the railroad company in the 10-ride ticket, and not have any further agitation especially if lower rates were given at the expense of service.

Mr. Martin of South San Francisco thought the League should not lose sight of the rates that prevail to points across the bay. We should have the same rates for similar distances.

Mr. Lange of Burlingame said Mr. Martin's argument would be met by the railroad company by saying that traffic conducted by a ferry was carried on at a much lower expense than by railroad. He thought the local commutation rates were not too high, but that the single trip tickets were.

A special committee composed of the president, secretary and assistant secretary was selected by the League, whose duty it will be to have a seawall bill, at present before the Legislature, amended so as to provied for its extension down the bay front into San Mateo County instead of being extended inland at the Islais Creek Basin in San Francisco.

A special committee was appointed to revise the constitution and bylaws of the League. The committee is as follows: Geo. W. Lovie (chairman), F. A. Cunningham and Eric Lange.

The election of officers of the League to serve during 1909 resulted as follows:

President—W. J. Martin, South San Francisco.

Vice-President—H. N. Royden, San Mateo.

Secretary—W. E. Crossman, Sunnyvale.

Assistant Secretary—E. I. Woodman, South San Francisco.

Treasurer—P. P. Chamberlain, Redwood City.

The next meeting of the League will be held at Redwood City on Wednesday, May 12th next, at 1 p. m.

A DARING BUCCANEER

Edward Thatch, Who Was Known as the Blackbeard Pirate.

HIS BATTLE WITH MAYNARD.

After the Hand to Hand Conflict the Desperado's Head Hung at the Bowsprit End of the Lieutenant's Sloop as She Sailed Back to Virginia.

It is almost 200 years since Edward Thatch, better known as the pirate Blackbeard, was a name with which to terrorize the Atlantic coast of the then new country of America. As a buccaneer whose deeds of desperate daring made him feared wherever his name was known he stands a close rival of the famous Captain Kidd, if indeed in some respects he did not surpass that notorious freebooter.

The date of Thatch's birth is lost in history, and his native place is variously given as Bristol and Jamaica. He first appears as a foremast hand to Major Stede Bonnet, a gentleman of Barbados, who, although a man of property and having small knowledge of the sea, thought proper to fit out a sloop and take to a life of piracy, the explanation of his being "a little distracted" being charitably given by one biographer. However that may be, his crew missed in the major the qualities of a successful commander. They deposed him and elected Thatch in his place. Bonnet was tried and executed in 1711.

Thatch's first independent exploit of which we have a detailed account took place in June, 1718, when he captured two French ships near the Bermudas, one laden with sugar, the other empty. Transferring to the latter the crew of the laden vessel and letting them go their way, he sailed with his prize of vessel and sugar for Bathtown, N. C., with the governor of which place, Charles Eden, he had previously arrived at a pleasant understanding.

Thatch gave out that he had found the French ship deserted. Governor Eden received sixty hogsheads of sugar as his share. Tobias Knight, his secretary, took twenty, and the remainder fell to Thatch and his crew. Thatch lingered there for some months, plundering and insulting the merchants of the place. These, understanding at length the futility of expecting redress from Eden, applied to the governor of Virginia to rid them of the pest.

The governor, after consultation with the captains of the Pearl and Lime, then lying in the James river, agreed to provide two sloops, the warships to furnish a complement of men. Lieutenant Maynard of the Pearl was placed in command, and the punitive expedition sailed on Nov. 17, 1718. On the 21st the pirates were sighted in an inlet about sixty miles from Bathtown, and Maynard anchored for the night.

On the following morning Thatch, maneuvering to elude attack, ran his vessel aground, but Maynard's sloop, drawing more water, though she had no guns on board, failed to get to close quarters. The lieutenant, however, threw out his ballast and in answer to a truculent defiance from Thatch promised to be "soon aboard him with his sloop." Coming at last within close range, a broadside from the pirate killed or wounded twenty of Maynard's crew and nine on board his consort.

Maynard now ran alongside the pirate, when, under cover of a discharge of grenades, Thatch and fourteen followers boarded the king's ship. Maynard and Thatch, pistol and sword in hand, engaged in a desperate personal encounter. The lieutenant's sword broke, and more than once he narrowly escaped a fatal injury. But at last Thatch, having received sixteen wounds, fell dead in the act of cocking a pistol. His followers jumped overboard and cried for quarter. Maynard hung Thatch's head at the bowsprit end, sailed for Bathtown, where he seized the governor's storehouse, and then, still with his grisly sign of triumph swinging in the wind, rejoined his ship in Virginia, where thirteen of the captured pirates were hanged.

One of the Blackbeard's crew who obtained pardon was Israel Hands, who makes his appearance in "Treasure Island." Shortly before Thatch met his death Hands had been lamed for life by a pistol shot in the knee fired by Thatch from under the cabin table, at which he, with Hands and others, was carousing, just to remind his crew in general "who he was." Such an act was only one of the many eccentric brutalities of Thatch's career.

When he felt himself in the vein or was going into action his appearance was somewhat startling—his bushy black beard tied up with ribbons, the ends of which were thrown over his ears; a fur cap on his head, with a lighted match on either side, and three brace of pistols slung across his shoulder. Of the usual condition of himself and his crew much may be gathered from the fact that "our company somewhat sober" was a circumstance deemed worthy of note in the diary found after his death.—London Globe.

Not Yet.

"Do you desire a room with a bath?" asked the affable clerk.

"Gee whiz, no!" replied the gentleman with the canvas telescope. "This is only Tuesday, ain't it?"—Chicago Record-Herald.

Children have more need of models than of critics.—Joubert.

England's National Anthem.

There is a fourth verse of the national anthem with which very few Englishmen indeed are familiar. But it was given, apparently in all good faith, in an old Hanoverian musical work, and the daring of the last rhyme almost reconciles one to the shocking character of the sentiment:

God save great George, our king!
Long live our noble king!
God save the king!
Send us roast beef a store.
If it's gone, send us more,
And the key of the cellar door,
That we may drink.

TOO CLEAN.

African Natives Who Were Lavish In Their Use of Soap.

Miss Mary Kingsley, who made many journeys in the wilds of Africa, used to relate how once, finding it necessary to cleanse a much soiled and stained blouse, she carried it, with a cake of soap, to a neighboring spring, where an interested group of native women watched her wash it. They were much impressed by the way in which the spots disappeared, and it emerged as good as new.

The next morning when it came time to break camp Miss Kingsley missed her soap—a precious commodity in the wilderness. Suspicion soon pointed to a certain woman, who, on being accused, confessed boldly that she had taken it and cast it into the spring that its extraordinary powers of renewing old garments might be permanently imparted to the waters. She was deeply mortified to learn that her effort had been in vain.

The Rev. Peter McQueen of Charlestown, Mass., tells a kindred story. His soap, however, was not lost, although misused. He still had it with him.

"I told our native servants to be sure to lay in a supply of clean water when we crossed the Taru desert, a scorched belt of sand stretching some seventy-six miles," he relates. "Tidings had reached us that an English explorer who had attempted to cross that desert shortly before us had perished from thirst, so we wanted to be careful.

"You can imagine my surprise when upon taking my first draft of water, I discovered that it tasted strongly of soap. All the casks were similarly tainted, and we rounded up the natives and held a hasty court martial.

"It was a tough predicament, but I couldn't refrain from smiling within when the leader of them meekly confessed that as the master had instructed him to lay in a supply of clean water he had seen to it that bars of soap were added, for soap, he said, was used to clean things."

They did not perish of thirst, but after sixteen days of drinking soap suds, which agreed with neither palate nor stomach, no native of that particular gang was again likely to try to purify water with soap.—Youth's Companion.

A GOOD REASON

Redwood City People Can Tell You Why It Is So.

Doan's Kidney Pills cure the cause of disease, and that is why the cures are always lasting. This remedy strengthens and tones up the kidneys, helping them to drive out of the body the liquid poisons that cause backache, headache and distressing kidney and urinary complaints. Redwood City people testify to permanent cures.

George West, living corner Third and B streets, Redwood City, Cal., says: "Both Mrs. West and myself have used Doan's Kidney Pills, and the results were most satisfactory. Mrs. West suffered from backache and a tired, languid feeling for some time. Doan's Kidney Pills proved to be what her system required and gave her new energy and ambition. My kidneys were also strengthened by their use, my back relieved of pain and my condition made better in every way. I have expressed my opinion of Doan's Kidney Pills to many of my friends. I procured this splendid remedy at P. A. Ryan's drug store.
